Produced for the Department of Education under the Basa Pilipinas Program

Basa Pilipinas is USAID/Philippines' flagship basic education project in support of the Philippine Government's early grade reading program. Implemented in close collaboration with the Department of Education (DepEd), Basa Pilipinas aims to improve the reading skills for at least one million early grade students in Filipino, English, and selected Mother Tongues. This will be achieved by improving reading instruction, reading delivery systems, and access to quality reading materials.

Sap Sap felt bad. He knew he should help Loro. But, Loro was not kind. Loro was mean because he never said hello. Still, Sap Sap felt bad. He felt guilty for not helping Loro.

Sap Sap quickly swam to see his friend Pugita, the octopus.

"Loro is stuck in a net. We have to help him!" Sap Sap exclaimed. Pugita nodded his big, oval head.

"I know what to do," he replied.

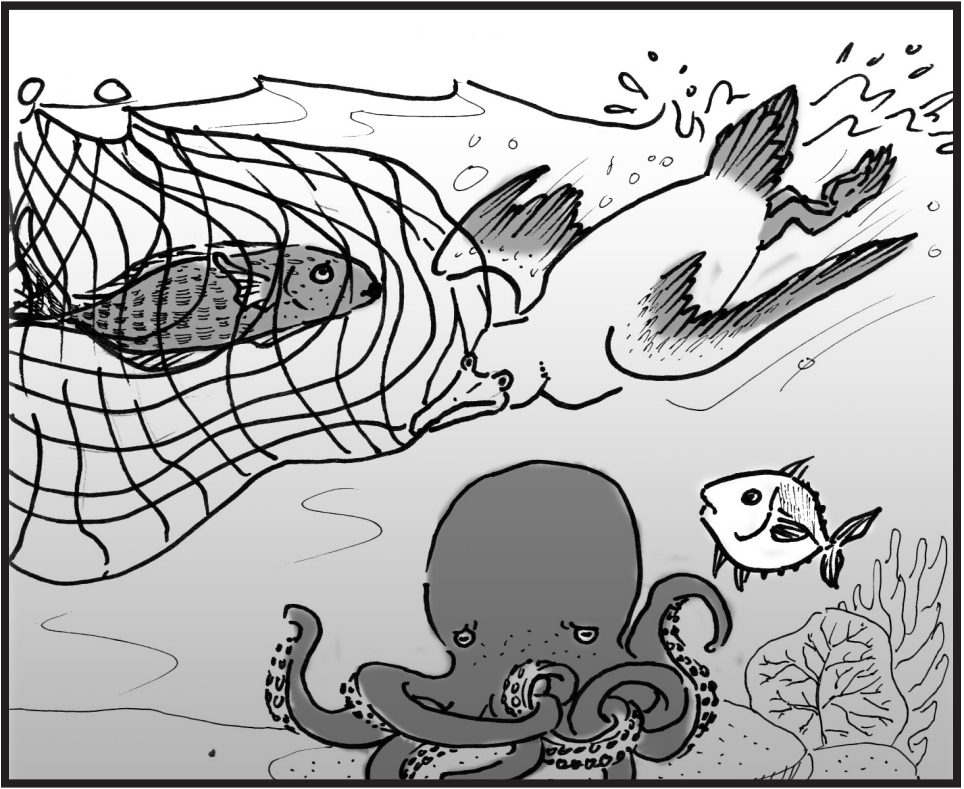

Pugita and Sap Sap swam to Loro.

"I will save you," Pugita said.

"I have eight long legs that can pull hard on the ropes of the net."

Pugita took his eight long legs and pulled hard. He pulled on the ropes. Oh no! His long legs were tied up in a big knot!

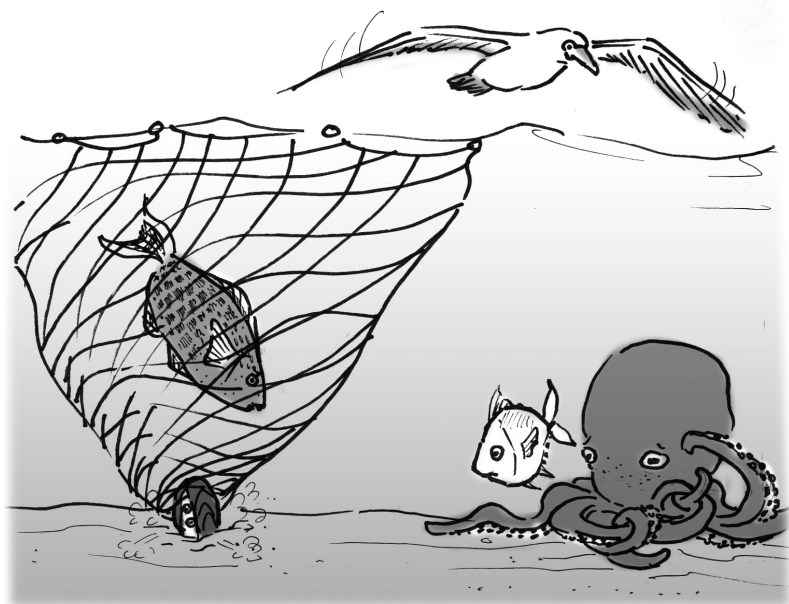

Just then, Gaby, the sea bird, flew by. He saw Loro stuck in the net. He was surprised to see Loro, the beautiful fish, stuck!

"I will save you," Gaby said.

"I have a big sharp beak. I will peck at the ropes."

Gaby pecked hard at the ropes. He pecked and pecked. But, the ropes did not break.

Just then, Tahong, the mussel, burrowed out of the white sand. He saw Loro stuck in the net. He was surprised to see Loro, the beautiful fish, stuck!

"I will save you," Tahong said.

"I have two strong shells. I will burrow into the ropes."

Tahong burrowed fast into the ropes. He burrowed and burrowed. But, the ropes did not break. How will Loro be freed?

Sap Sap swam to find more help. He spotted Biya, the goby fish, the bottom dweller. Biya was stuck to a stone. He was eating sea moss. Sap Sap quickly swam to him. He pleaded with Biya to help him free Loro.

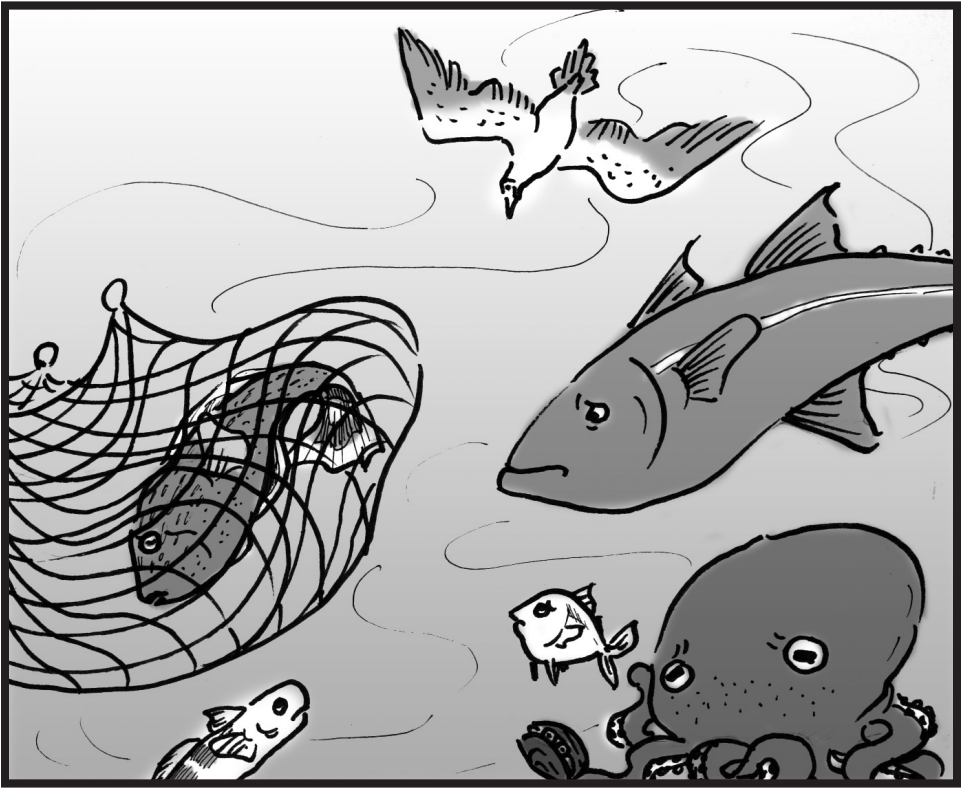

Biya stopped eating. He spoke very slowly with his big mouth. "I have a big mouth that can suck sea moss. I will suck on the ropes and gob it up." Biya sucked hard on the ropes. He sucked and sucked. But the ropes did not break.

Just then, Tambakol, the fat tuna, swam by. He saw Loro stuck in the net. He was surprised to see Loro, the beautiful fish, stuck in the net.

"I will save you," Tambakol said. "I have a huge fin. I will hit the ropes."

Tambakol hit the ropes hard. He hit and hit. But, the ropes did not break.

They were all sad. They could not help free Loro. He had no hope. He began to cry. How would he survive stuck in a fisherman's net?

The tug boat stopped short and dropped the anchor. Loro was scared. He pulled hard on the ropes. But, he was still stuck.

Two divers jumped into the water. They swam around slowly. They explored here and there. They breathed air bubbles through their tubes.

All of a sudden, Sap Sap swam back to Loro.

Loro yelled to Sap Sap,
“Why did you leave me alone here? I am scared. Those divers will hurt me.”

Sap Sap yelled back,
“No need to be rude! We don’t know what to do.”

Just then, Sap Sap had an idea. He swam to the others. He talked in a hush. They came up with a plan. But, what will they do?

Sap Sap quickly swam to the divers. He swam here and there. He made his scales twinkle in the sun.

“That is a cute little fish. It has shiny scales. It is small. Let’s follow it,” thought one diver. They went after him.

Sap Sap rushed to the others.
All of the fish swam around Loro in a huge circle. Gaby flew in small circles above Loro.
The divers swam over to see.
They were curious.

The divers saw Loro. They saw he was stuck in the net.

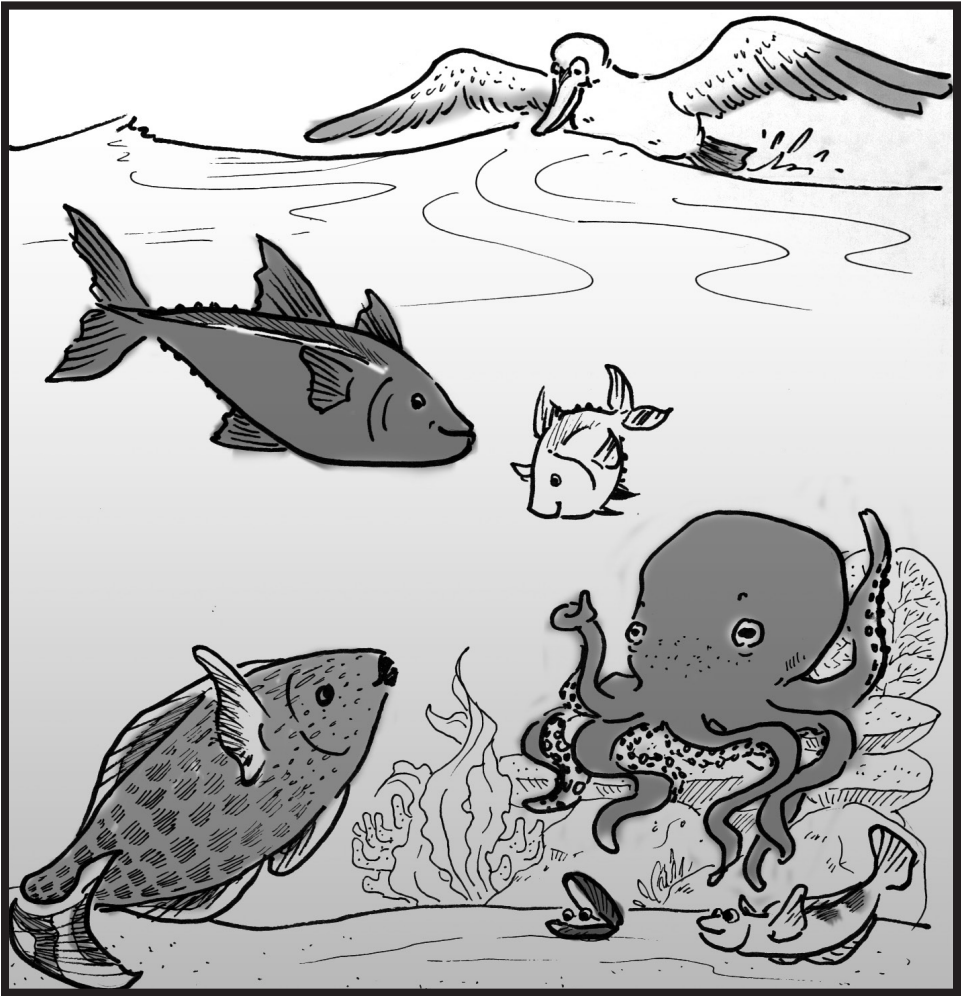

“What a nice fish!” they thought.

“It is sad the fisherman did not follow the rules. This fish is stuck and it looks so tired. We can save him. We have arms and a knife. We will cut the ropes.”

The divers took out a sharp knife.
They quickly cut the ropes.
Loro swam out of the net.
He was free.

All of the fish swam in a big circle around the divers. This was their way of saying thank you.

From that day forward, Loro, the parrotfish, was nice to others. He always said hello. He was never rude to his friends again.
